Missing Niles Soldier Found; Back in Fight

Sergeant Alphonse Rodriguez, 26-year-old Niles soldier reported missing in action in Korea last week, is alive and well and back at the fighting front with his unit.

This information was received this week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rodriguez, 1245 Morrison Avenue, Niles.

On July 21 Mr. and Mrs. Rodriguez received a telegram from the War Department stating that their son had been missing in action in Korea since July 8.

However, on July 27, another son, Antone, who resides in San Francisco, received a letter from his brother stating that he had been injured and was in a hospital in Pusan, South Korea.

The letter, dated July 20, indicated that Sergeant Rodriguez was not aware of the fact that he had been reported missing. He stated that he was fully recuperated and expected to rejoin his unit that day.

"We can't put into words the joy that mother and I felt when we heard the good news," Mr. Rodriguez said this week. "However, his letter was none too encouraging about the way things are going over there. We can only hope now that our boys get a lot of help and equipment very soon."

Mr. and Mrs. Rodriguez were unaware of the fact that their son was in Korea until they received the telegram last week telling that he was missing in action.

TOWNSHIP CHAMBER SUPPORT IS VOTED

The Decoto Chamber of Commerce, at its monthly meeting held Tuesday evening in the fire house, voted to continue its support of the Washington Township Chamber of Commerce by allocating $60 in dues for the coming year.

Members of the group made the recommendation that the industries of the township aid in the financial support of the Township Chamber to assist that organization in boosting this area.

It was also recommended that L. W. Musick, school district superintendent and the members of the Board of Trustees, meet with the Citizens Water Company and the Alameda County Water District to discuss the water problems for the new school and Tareyton Village.

President Gonzales Paniagua and Manuel Hidalgo agreed to serve as a committee to make a survey of street work needed throughout the community and submit their findings to the county board of supervisors.

Supervisor Chester E. Stanley was a guest at the meeting and suggested that the Chamber write a letter to the county board asking that Seventh and Eighth Streets be reopened to traffic.

The preliminary hearing on a charge of manslaughter against Herman D. Silacci, Morgan Hill, opened in Centerville Justice Court last Friday and was continued, after three hours of testimony, until yesterday at 2 p.m.

Silacci was driver of the truck involved in the fatal highway accident April 27 in which Mrs. Marie Gates of San Jose was instantly killed when the load of large pipe the truck was carrying rolled from the truck into the path of the Gates machine near Warm Springs.

In testimony presented Friday the state endeavored to prove that the defendant did not adequately secure the load of pipe on the truck.

PRE-INDUCTION PHYSICAL EXAM QUOTAS BOOSTED

Draft officials announced this week that they had revised quotas of men who will be called for pre-induction physical examinations this month as a result of the increased army request for men.

The quota of Draft Board No. 54 at Hayward, which serves all Southern Alameda County, has been boosted from 56 to 84 men, who will report to the Presidio in San Francisco for physical examinations on August 15.

The specific number of men who will actually be inducted before September 30 has not been announced, according to M. W. Lewis, member of Board 54.

In the meantime classification notices were being mailed this week from the board's office at 2063 B Street, Hayward, to men of this area in the 18 through 25-year-old brackets.

Lewis said that calls for pre-induction physicals will be made by age groups, with the older men being called first. He expressed doubt, however, that there would be many men in the 24-25 age bracket available for service.

Lewis continued to warn young men of this area that they are required to register for the draft within five days after attaining their 18th birthday.

For the convenience of residents of this area, Mrs. Ella Jolliff of Niles will continue to serve as a volunteer registrar at the Ellsworth Company office at 605 First Street, Niles. Men already registered are warned that they must notify their draft boards of any change of address.

LOCAL AMBULANCE SERVICE RENEWED

Emergency 24-hour ambulance service will be resumed in Washington Township by Monday, it was announced yesterday by Bernard Vail, owner and operator of the Township Cab Service.

Mr. Vail said that he has purchased an ambulance which will be put into service here as soon as it is fully equipped.

The ambulance will be headquartered in Centerville and may be dispatched either by radio or telephone and will be available for emergency, convalescent and industrial accident cases.

In making the announcement, Vail also stated that he had installed radios in his cabs to facilitate speedier service in dispatching the taxis throughout the township. He stated that the ambulance may be summoned by phoning Centerville 8-8498 any time of day or night.

NEWARK FIRE HOUSE ADDITION STARTED

Construction of an addition to the Newark fire station has been started by L. M. Potts, Newark contractor.

The addition includes the construction of a second story on a portion of the present building. When completed it will serve as sleeping quarters for on-duty firemen.

The addition will be divided into two rooms with an overall floor space of 540 square feet.

The contract was awarded to Potts on his bid of $4,985.

GRASS FIRE AT NILES

The Niles Fire Department was called out twice this week to extinguish grass fires along Alameda Creek. No property damage resulted from the two blazes.

BUILDING PROGRAM OF $7,223,000 FOR LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Five industrial firms of Washington Township have announced the completion or partial completion of expansion programs which will total $7,223,000.

The announcements were made in a summary of industrial growth in Alameda County for the year ending December 31, 1949, which was distributed this week by the Alameda County New Industries Committee.

The booklet outlines briefly the expansion programs at Westvaco Chemical Division, Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation at Newark; the Sunset Foundary at Newark; Pacific States Steel Corporation at Niles; E. D. Meeker Building Materials, Niles, and the Inland Aggregates Company, Incorported, Niles.

Westvaco's expansion program included the construction of a $1,200,000 phosphate plant, recently completed. The new annex covers three acres and added 40 employees to the company's payroll.

The improvements at the Sunset Foundry in Newark include a $3,000 office building, recently constructed by the firm that specializes in gray iron castings and stove parts.

The recently completed construction of a 150-ton open hearth furnace and foundations for three more of the same size, is the expansion program listed by the Pacific States Steel Corporation. The total estimated investment for the job, which is expected to be completed this year, is $6,000,000.

The $10,000 investment of the E. D. Meeker firm in Niles lists new improvements which include display rooms, office and warehouse.

The increase of water supply facilities at the Inland Aggregates Company holdings at Niles represents an expenditure of $10,000 and is expected to increase capacity 10 per cent.

RITES TODAY FOR FRANK A. KATZER

He was a native of San Francisco but had resided here for the past 32 years, where he held the position of chief operator at the power station.

Mr. Katzer had suffered from a heart ailment for the past several years but had continued to take an active role in civic and fraternal organizations.

He was a member of the Centerville Lions Club, Orient Chapter 177, Order of Eastern Star; past master of Alameda Lodge, F. & A. M. 167, and Scottish Rites bodies of Oakland.

He was the husband of Lucy Katzer, father of Frank W. Katzer, San Lorenzo; brother of Mrs. Martha Cobb, San Diego, and Arthur W. Katzer of Newark.

Funeral services will be conducted from the parlors of the Chapel of the Palms in Centerville on Friday at 2 p.m. by Alameda Lodge, F. & A. M. Closing services will be at Oak Hill Crematory, San Jose.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR HIGH SCHOOL BAND

The Washington Union High School marching band will have a sparkling "new look" when it takes the field next month for the opening of football season.

The Board of Trustees of the school, at their meeting Tuesday evening, passed a resolution calling for bids for uniform companies to completely outfit a 30-piece band.

FIRE CHIEFS STUDY DISASTER CONTROL

Basic procedures to be followed in the event of a major disaster in this area are being outlined this week by representatives of the fire departments, working with the county and state Disaster Control Boards.

Fire chiefs of each of the local districts were summoned to a meeting of the County Disaster Control Board last night in the office of District Attorney Frank Coakley, chairman of the county control board.

Chief Joseph Pashote of Newark has been named coordinator for Washington Township. Chief Pashote said this week, "We have had a mutual aid plan for fire defense in Washington Township for many years. That is, each department stands ready to assist any other department that is in need of assistance in combatting fires."

Pashote said that the mutual aid plan would carry over into the disaster control program with a minimum of difficulty.

"We have had no request to call for additional volunteers to serve in the event of a major disaster in this area," Pashote said, but added that he felt certain that such an organization could be set up here in a short time.

LOCAL MEN INJURED IN HOODLUM BRAWL

George Aranda, 21, and Joseph F. Vega, 20, both of Alvarado, were among those injured Sunday in a brawl between three gangs of hoodlums in Alvarado.

The hoodlums utilized knives, bicycle chains, sawed-off pool cues, and broken bottles in the free-for-all that took place in front of the I.D.E.S. Hall.

Aranda was taken to the Fairmont Hospital where he was treated for a serious stab wound in the back. Later he was transferred to the Highland Hospital in Oakland for observation.

Sheriff's deputies questioned Vega, who admitted he had been in the fight, but were unable to obtain much information about who the combatants were.

LOCAL CUCUMBER CROP STATE'S BIGGEST

OVER 1,000 ACRES PLANTED IN THIS COUNTY

Traditionally regarded as a cool character, the cucumber is presently a hot number on Washington Township's crop program.

An expected yield of more than 10,000 tons from 1000 acres, has swung Alameda County into its place as the leading pickle cucumber growing area in California. According to Centerville shippers and brokers, the fruit is bringing growers and pickers an average of something near $50 per ton, with a low of about $35 and a high of $72.

It was learned from local farmers that the pickling cucumber is quite different from salad cucumbers which housewives buy at grocery stores. They are picked when they are small, and have a rough, oily, and bumpy skin.

The plants are grown under contract given mostly by four of the larger canning companies in the bay area. The fruit is harvested from the first week in July until the middle of September, and the price received for the cucumbers varies according to its size.

Growers report that more than 50 per cent of proceeds realized from the harvest go to pickers who will not work their fields unless a good yield is expected. They add, however, that the labor situation in this area is favorable at the present time.

L & V, Centerville brokers, report daily shipments by truck of from 40 to 80 tons, part of which is shipped to Los Angeles pickle factories. Other shippers, including L. S. Williams of Centerville, say that most shipments are by truck to local pickling plants or salting stations.

EXPANSION PLANS FOR HIGH SCHOOL OKAYED BY BOARD

A building program which would provide classrooms for 126 additional students was tentatively approved by the Board of Trustees of Washington Union High School at their meeting Tuesday evening.

The trustees instructed J. V. Goold, district school superintendent, to submit preliminary drawings of the addition to the architectural firm of Clark and Strongquist in Palo Alto for a more detailed drawing and an estimate of the cost of the project.

The new structure would be erected south of the present homemaking department wing of the building and would be connected by a breezeway.

It would include a 24 by 42-foot bookkeeping room; a 24 by 18-foot office; a 24 by 42-foot office practice room; a 24 by 26-foot machine workroom; a 24 by 42-foot typing room and two rest rooms.

"We have known the need for the new building for a considerable time and members of the faculty have visited commercial departments in all of the new schools in Central California to get ideas for the plan," Goold said Wednesday.

He added that the architects that will work out the final plans are the same that designed the cafeteria and garage and would blend the new structure in with the rest of the school plant.

Goold indicated that there is a sufficient reserve in the school building fund to finance the cost of the building.

"The addition of the new building would afford us three more classrooms and a badly needed counseling room here in the main building," he added.

Other business transacted by the trustees was the adoption of the 1950-51 budget of $461,517.

Goold reported to the board members that the local high school had again been listed by the University of California as one of the accredited schools of the state.

The board voted continuation of the practice of paying $1 per trip for school bus drivers. They also voted continuation of the C.I.F. pupil protection insurance.

TOWNSHIP CANNERS BEGIN PEACH RUN

One of Washington Township's three canneries has begun packing peaches, and the other two will start next week.

The Shuckl Company in Niles began its run early this week. F. E. Booth Company of Centerville and Alaco canners in Decoto will start the first of next week.

The quality of this year's peaches, which are purchased from valley growers, is reported to range from "pretty nice" to "better than last year's fruit." One of the companies' superintendents said the peaches are not as tree-ripened as they were last year.

The Centerville cannery is employing about 300 persons, and is operating on a one-shift basis. It will process cling peaches only, and expects to produce between 5000 and 10,000 cases per day.

According to a representative of the Booth Company, they are paying $60 a ton for the fruit, which is a price established by the California Cling Peach Association.

Alaco Canners also will process clings. It operates on one shift, and employs about 150 persons.

Running freestones only, the Schuckl Company has a two-shift total of 150 women and 40 to 50 men employed.

All three companies report the labor situation to be favorable, and plan to retain most of the crews that worked during the apricot run which was just completed.

They expect to finish the peach pack this month or early in September when the tomato run begins.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR TO VISIT ROTARY CLUB

Arch B. Davison, governor of the 157th district of Rotary International, will be the guest of the Rotary Club of Niles on August 10.

Davison is making his annual official visit to each of the 42 Rotary Clubs in Northern California. While here, he will confer with President Will Lamoreux, Secretary P. D. Juhl, and other local Rotary officers on club administration and Rotary service activities.

Major Industry Buys Plant Site at Decoto

Officials of the U. S. Pipe and Foundry Company of East Burlington, New Jersey, announced this week that they would begin immediate construction on a new $2,500,000 foundry at Decoto.

The plant, the company's first west of the Mississippi, will produce cast iron pipe for its Pacific Coast market, according to General Donald Armstrong, president of the company.

The new plant is to be constructed by the Austin Company and is to be completed by July 1, 1951. Initial employment has been estimated at 150.

The site of the plant is on Whipple Road, at the Western Pacific right-of-way, in an industrial tract being developed by the railroad. The company has purchased 71 acres of the 195-acre tract held by the railroad.

One of the nation's major producers of cast iron pipe and culverts, U. S. Pipe and Foundry Company employs 3,700 and has sales offices throughout the United States.

To clear the way for the development, the area was recently rezoned for heavy industry by the Alameda County Planning Commission and the County Board of Supervisors.

The Decoto Chamber of Commerce and the Washington Township Chamber of Commerce, working with Supervisor Chester Stanley and R. J. Wright, planning commission chairman, headed the campaign to accomplish the rezoning of the area over the protests of delegations of nearby property owners.

OLD ADOBES HERE TO BE MARKED

Old adobe buildings in Washington Township which have remained in obscurity for many years are soon to receive the recognition that is their due.

The Washington Township Historical Society announced at its meeting last week that it will seek participation of the Grand Parlor of Native Sons in setting up markers to commemorate these old buildings and sites which are an integral part of early California history.

In addition to the famous Old Adobe at the California Nursery, there are several others in the township, in various degrees of decadence. Perhaps the best preserved of any of them is the Weller Curtner place on Curtner Road near the south line of the county.

Other old adobes, or their remains, are said to be at the old Joseph Mayhew place in Newark, the Hernandez Higuera place at Warm Springs, and the Ross place in Newark. The old Power property at Warm Springs is also said to have the remains of one of the Higuera adobes on its land.

The members of the society have also been informed that on the California Pottery land in Niles there are the remains of an old adobe.

According to Mrs. Roland Bendel, chairman of the Society, the members will embark on a discovery campaign, hoping to unearth other old adobes in this area. She stated that she will welcome any information leading to their whereabouts.

NILES WOMAN TO BE STATE FAIR JUDGE

Mrs. Dora Scudder of Niles, noted for her work in floriculture, has received further laurels in that line by being appointed this week to act as a judge in the floriculture division of the State Fair at Sacramento.

Mrs. Scudder has had considerable experience in fairs, having participated in the Alameda County fairs, where she has gained county-wide fame as a floriculture expert. This led to her appointment at the State Fair.

CENTERVILLE CHAMBER BACKS TOWNSHIP GROUP

At the regular weekly luncheon at the California Inn, the Centerville group voted to pay its dues of $120 to the township-wide organization for the next 12 months.

OLD MISSION BELLS TO RING FOR TRACT CEREMONY

Those in the township who have never had a chance to hear the 200 year old Mission San Jose bells will soon have the opportunity of doing so.

Around the middle of the month the first earth will be turned in the new Mission Gardens tract, starting construction of the 250 homes expected to be built there. At this time the bells—heard only rarely—will ring out, marking the happy and significant occasion. For Mission San Jose, the sleepy little town with its past identified with early California history, is about to become a modern, thriving village.

E. C. Parks, Niles realtor who is handling the sale of the homes in Mission Gardens, stated that already 60 houses have been sold, and each Sunday for the past two Sundays have seen a thousand people throng through the three model homes.

"The response to the tract is most gratifying," said Parks. "It seems that there is a definite trend toward living in the country. Many of those who have already purchased homes have been living in San Jose, which is easily accessible to this area. People want to get away from city living, and yet be within commuting distance from their businesses or jobs."

Plans of the tract call for eventual construction of a recreation area and park on the old Gallegos property which is part of Mission Gardens. Water from the old well will be used for a community swimming pool in the park.

PASTOR OF NILES CHURCH RESIGNS

The Rev. W. F. Hunter, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Niles, announced his resignation last Sunday. It will become effective on September 1.

The reason for The Rev. Hunter's resignation was given as due to increased pastoral duties, which demand the services of a full-time minister.

Pastor Hunter, a graduate of Northwestern College in Minnesota, and his wife are candidates for appointment as missionaries to the Belgian Congo's Mission of the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Society.

The First Baptist Church in Niles was founded by Pastor Hunter last September and he became its first pastor. Under his leadership the church has grown to a membership of 60.

B LEAGUE PENNANT TO YMI; STEELERS QUIT A LEAGUE

The pennant race in the Township Softball Association drew to a close this week in the B League with Y.M.I. firmly rooted in the top position, Kraftile in second place and American Forge and Wedgewood tied for third honors.

In the A League the contest was narrowed to Kleines and Central Chevrolets with Pacific States Steel dropping out of the league over a protested game. With a week's play remaining in the A League, the Kleine aggregation is trailing the Chevrolet club by but one game and the pennant hangs in the balance.

The Shaunessy play-off will get under way for the B League clubs on Monday evening and the following Monday for the A clubs.

Last Thursday evening Y.M.I. unleashed a vicious batting attack against Fricks that netted them an easy 19 to 4 victory. In the nightcap Kleines edged out Westvaco 5 to 4.

On Friday evening Pacific States Steel, in a hard-fought pitchers' battle, nosed out Central Chevrolets 3 to 2 in what proved to the the steelmen's last appearance of the season. Kraftile dumped L and V in the second game to retain their second-place position.

American Forge coasted to an easy win over Fricks on Monday evening 8 to 3 and Kleines took a 7 to 0 forfeit from the steelers.

Tuesday evening the lowly Westvaco gave the league-leading Chevrolets a scare but wound up on the short end of an 8 to 10 score. Wedgewood gave L and V a thorough trouncing, 22 to 10.

American Forge retained its third-place tie Wednesday by handing the Y.M.I.'s their second defeat of the season, 9 to 3. Westvaco won a forfeit over the steelers and then went on to win an exhibition game against Reberos Club of Hayward, 14 to 13.

EARLY DEER SEASONOPENS ON AUGUST 7

California's early deer hunting season opens at one-half hour before sunrise, Monday, August 7. Most of the state's 310,000 deer hunters are expected to take to the hills after the limit of two bucks each.

The 40-day early season will open in all of the following counties: Mendocino, Glenn, Lake, Colusa, Sonoma, Napa, Yolo, Marin, Solano, San Francisco, Contra Costa, Alameda, San Mateo, Santa Cruz, Santa Clara, Monterey, San Benito, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles and orange.

The following portions of these counties will also open: San Joaquin, Stanislaus and Merced west of the San Joaquin River; Kings and Kern Counties west of Highway 33; and Riverside County west of Highways 60 and 79.

The early season ends at one-half hour after sunset, September 15. In the remainder of California a 30-day deer hunting season begins on September 16.

Besides a 1950 hunting license, all deer hunters must be equiped with deer tags which are to be filled out and returned to the state agency when a buck is bagged. The Division of Fish and Game also warns hunters about the danger of careless shooting, and hazards of fire in dry woods and brush lands.

IRVINGTON SCORES TWIN VICTORY

The Irvington Merchants, playing with a revised lineup with special emphasis on infield speed, scored two victories during the past week.

Manager Frank Mayer's club dumped the Dergan club of San Jose 12 to 6 on the Santa Clara diamond Thursday evening and shut out the Merchants' team at Occidental on Sunday, 6 to 0.

The local lads went into the ninth inning of their game with Dergan's on Thursday trailing 5 to 3. Hal Alameda started off the rally that netted the Irvington club nine runs and the victory. John Dutra was credited with the most runs batted in, collecting three hits for four trips to the plate. Stan Roderick went the full nine innings on the mound for the Irvingtonites and had some control trouble, giving up nine walks, but kept the Dergan hits well scattered.

Veteran mound ace Tony Dutra hurled a near perfect nine innings Sunday at Occidental to chalk up a 6-0 shutout. He gave up but five hits and allowed but one runner to advance as far as third base.

In the meantime all but one of the 10 men used by Manager Mayer in the line-up got base hits, paced by Dutra and Garcia with doubles. Sweeney had a perfect day with the hickory stick, rapping out two hits for two official times at bat.

Thinking Things Over . . :

By VIVIAN BATMAN

Every Wednesday at the Peerless Grill at Niles, many of the residents of the Masonic Home in Decoto come in for corned beef and cabbage, a specialty of the house.

Last Wednesday two of the white-haired damosels were sitting in a booth and having quite a gay time. They appeared much distraught, however, because "Sentimental Me" was not on the juke-box line-up.

One of the elderlies called Elsie over. (Elsie, you know, is the one who makes the wheels go 'round at the Peerless.) "I want 'Sentimental Me'," she told Elsie. "But I can't find it on this juke-box. Isn't it here?"

Elsie scanned the hit-tunes. "This is probably what you want," she said, dropping a nickel in the box, and soon the strains of "Sentimental Journey" came wafting up above the aromatic vapors of the corned-beef and cabbage.

The elderly lady shook her head vehemently, "No, that isn't it," she said decidedly. "I want 'Sentimental Me'." (I wouldn't have been at all surprised if she had asked for Billy Eckstein's rendition of it.)

Her disappointment at not being able to hear her favorite popular tune was shortly alleviated, however, by the appearance of an elderly white-haired gallant, who, judging from the conversation, was also from the Masonic Home.

They exchanged pleasantries. One might even say they were "kidding" each other and obviously enjoying it.

Now I am wondering if life doesn't begin at eighty—at the Masonic Home!!

A 'MEANEST THIEF'

Evan Parry, a Niles boy, always puts his eyeglasses in his shoes when he goes swimming. He did this last Sunday, but was shocked to find that they had been stolen while he was in the water.

Inasmuch as the glasses were of no use to anyone else, but as necessary as a crutch to young Parry, who can scarcely see without them, the person who took them might qualify as "the meanest thief."

Until he does get new ones fitted, the poor boy is wandering around in a haze.

I hope I have no readers who steal eyeglasses, but just in case, let me put in a plea:—if you have to steal, take candy from a baby, rather than eyeglasses from anybody. It's less heartless.

And babies shouldn't be eating candy anyhow.

I will never write another letter of complaint!

I've been writing complaining letters for years—every time something irks me that I think should be corrected. Most of my letters have been directed toward bus companies, as I am always having trouble, it seems, with windows that won't open or windows that won't close, or a bus-driver that won't let me off where I wish to get off, or one who won't let me on where I want to get on.

So I write a letter.

Recently I wrote a letter to the Key System complaining about the windows on their "R" bus. They won't stay open—if you ever manage to get them open at all. I received a lengthy and polite reply.

They were sorry, they said, that I was having window trouble. They assured me that the windows were lubricated every 3500 miles. But now, because of my letter, they would start lubricating them every 3200 miles. They hoped sincerely that I would have no further window trouble.

That has been the only letter I've written to the Key System, as most of my letters have been directed at the Peerless buses, which our family uses more often.

In the light of what happened last Friday night I burn every time I think of some of the epithets I have hurled at the Peerless bus system.

You see, my husband became a trout-fishing buddy of Mr. Harry Gaeta's at a resort recently. And Mr. Gaeta, who is president of the Peerless buses, invited us up to his Piedmont home to dinner last Friday night.

We went. But I suffered. They were a very hospitable family and I would have had a delightful time except that I kept thinking of the things I had written to him about his buses. I winced every time a word was said that even rhymed with 'bus'.

The only time the word "bus" was actually mentioned, however, was when they started talking about their vacation. They were looking forward to it with great enthusiasm because, for the first time, they were going—by bus!

NOW THIS!

Since I wrote that last item a woman in Niles called me wondering if we could do something about the buses! It seems that they don't run on the Niles-Mission highway any longer. She's sure that if we bring it to the attention of the Peerless bus people—

But how do I dare!

MARILYN LECOUNT SETS DATE FOR VOW EXCHANGE WITH ALEX BERNARD

Marilyn LeCount and Alex Bernard will join the ranks of the young marrieds on September 3, according to Marilyn, who set the date this week.

The bride-elect, a member of last June's graduating class at Washington High, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence LeCount of Newark. Her fiance's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard of J Street, Niles.

Marilyn is presently employed at Van Scoy's Jewelry Store in Centerville, and Alex, a former football star at Washington High, is employed as a carpenter.

They will be married at Holy Ghost Church in Centerville at a one o'clock ceremony.

A Second Daughter

Ted and Elsie Econome, owners of the Peerless Grill in Niles, have broad grins on their faces this week, and no wonder. They have become parents of another granddaughter. The Woodwards have another daughter, four-year-old Diane.

At Nevada City

Mrs. Dora Mae Scudder of Niles has returned home after a very pleasant week spent at the summer home of her daughter, Mrs. Llyod Truman, in Nevada City. It was hot, she said, but her daughter's place is on a stream and cooled by shade trees, so it was comfortable in spite of the heat.

FORMER IRVINGTON RESIDENT KILLED

Irvington friends were shocked last week when they learned of the death of Augusto Avila Melo Sr., 51, who was killed instantly in a Southern California oil well accident recently.

A former resident of Irvington, he had been associated in the past with his sister, Mrs. Prudence Henry of Irvington, in a business there. For the past year he had been living in Taft, where he was part owner of Melo & Son Oil Well Service, and partner in M.T. M. Oil Company.

Mr. Melo spent much of his time inventing gadgets to expedite oil drilling and pumping. The "Melo Bailer" is a nationally acclaimed sand pump type of tool which he patented in 1933 and later sold to a Long Beach oil company.

SALVADOR COUNCIL INITIATES 45 CHARTER MEMBERS

Twelve new members were added to the charter roll of Salvador Council No. 89, Benevolent Society of California, at the first monthly meeting of the newly formed group last Sunday at Vilela's in Irvington.

The new members are: Edwin Freitas, Irvington; Marie S. Sousa, Newark; Joe G. Sousa, Newark; Armanda S. Machado, Newark; Joseph H. Leal, Warm Springs; Vincent Dias, Newark; L. W. Krueger, Irvington; Anthony E. Moreno, Mission San Jose; Cynthia Lauberge, Irvington; Dorothy Mahoney, Centerville; Leontine Costa, Decoto; and John H. Holland, Irvington.

Four transfers were accepted into membership in the organization. They are: Joe Costa and daughter of Mission San Jose, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rosa of Irvington.

The new members were initiated by Frank Macedo, president of the Board of Directors of the Supreme Council, representing Antone U. Salvador of Corcoran, grand president.

Other state officers present at the meeting were Manuel Reis, grand secretary, and his assistant, Jack Costa, both of San Francisco.

The addition of the 12 new members brings the total charter membership to 45, according to Mrs. Lena Salvador, Irvington, secretary.

The next meeting of the group will be a chamarita dance to be held the evening of August 26 at the Maple Hall Rink in Irvington. The next business session will be Sunday, September 24.

The FARMERS CORNER

by Ralph H. Taylor
Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

At the Berkeley meeting of the President's Water Resources Policy Commission last month, C. H. Purcell, California Director of Public Works, charged that there is "a regrettable lack of unity in purpose, and want of common standards" in Federal water policies.

That, of course, is a polite way of saying that Federal agencies, in planning for huge water development projects costing millions and millions of dollars and affecting the basic livelihood of the citizens of vast regions, have a habit of going off half cocked.

Some idea of the magnitude of the proposed developments which are approached with such confused and fuzzy thinking can be gained by the recent estimate that over the next five years, in five western states alone, Federal agencies plan to spend $2,382,619,000 for river-harnessing projects!

What proportion of that huge contemplated sum is justified? Probably no one is qualified to say with any degree of certainty. If past experiences are any criterion, however, it seems certain that much of the money will be wasted on highly questionable projects—for benefits in no way commensurate with the cost.

There is a relatively new and hopeful factor in the situation, however. Many of the contemplated mammoth projects cross state lines and disturb existing agreements and water use arrangements between states. As these projects emerge from the early planning stage, it can be expected that they will be met with violent controversy. Out of such controversy, facts will emerge and public understanding will be reached on many disputed issues and problems. As a result, it is just possible that some of the more unsound, extravagant, and unjustifiable developments may die on the drawing boards.

Such a situation exists today in the case of the widely publicized Central Arizona Project. This proposed water and power development, blueprinted by the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and ardently sought by the State of Arizona, would cost Federal taxpayers 738 million dollars just for construction of its initial features. That amount is more than the cost of the Panama Canal.

If the Central Arizona project had planned to make use of water rights owned solely by the citizens of Arizona, it is entirely possible that Congressional approval for its construction would have been given with little fuss or fanfare, regardless of the questionable soundness of the development.

But the project would divert water from the Colorado River, and the rights to the water are claimed by the states of Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, Nevada, and California, as well as Arizona. Consequently, all of those states, and particularly California, would be vitally affected by the project. California, which regards the development as a raid upon its established rights, is implacably opposed to its authorization.

The Colorado River Association, which is spearheading the fight against the project, sums up its opposition in these terms:

"The Central Arizona Project proposes to use water which it doesn't own, lift it nearly twice as high as the Washington Monument, convey it further than from Washington New York, at a cost to the Federal taxpayers of a billion dollars, to irrigate two hundred thousand acres of privately owned war-boom land, the owners of which would not be required to repay any of the construction costs, to raise crops which are already surplus and subsidized in this country!"

As a result of California's vigorous stand, many startling facts have come to public attention.

According to the Bureau of Reclamation's own figures, present water requirements and contracts of states bordering the Colorado are in excess of the total water supply!

Although the Arizona land proposed to be served is valued at only $300 per acre, irrigated, the proportionate per acre cost of the project would be $1,750, or $280,000 for a 160-acre farm!

There is no guarantee that the cost of the project would ever be repaid to the U. S. Treasury, and there is no provision for payment of interest on the investment. Taxpayers of Nebraska, for example, —a state that prides itself on never going into debt for its own wants —would be required to pay over 20 million dollars as their share of the Central Arizona Project's construction cost, interest, and non-reimbursible subsidies. Taxpayers of the state of New York would pay 356 million!

The Project would cost California taxpayers, whose welfare would be seriously damaged, 202 million dollars.

The controversy over the Central Arizona Project is a healthy, constructive, and timely thing. Similar controversies in the future, it is to be hoped, will have a sobering effect on some of the Federal project planners' wilder dreams.

Public land holdings in California total 49,988,000 acres, some 43,000,000 of which is held by the federal government.

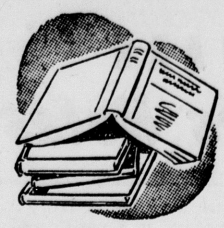

The greatest value of California's forests is as watersheds.

At the LIBRARY

By ELAINE HOWE

"Murder will out—that see we day by day" is as true today as when Chaucer said it some six hundred years ago. And so today this human preoccupation with murder and its consequences is satisfied by reading murder mystery stories. All the best people read them—lawyers, doctors, presidents, nice old ladies, farmers. I'm never surprised no matter who asks, "Where's the mystery shelf?"

Here's a clutch of first rate murders. "Nightmare in Manhattan" by Thomas Walsh is one. A six-year-old boy is kidnapped and held for ransom. The whole action of the fast-paced chase and evasion is laid in "Manhattan Depot," good old Grand Central in thin disguise. It had my heart pounding.

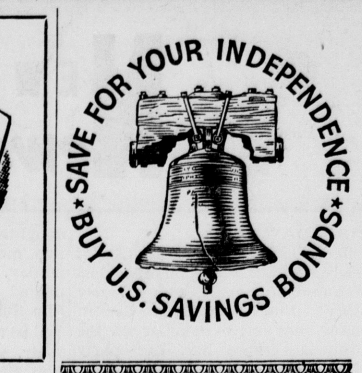

For a novel locale "The Glass Spear" by Sidney Courtier takes us to Australia. A newly returned veteran finds dirty work afoot at the family ranch. A mysterious unseen woman dominates the household, and a tribal ceremony precipitates — you guessed it — murder most foul.

Hildegarde Teilhet is a past mistress of the novel of the chase. In "Rim of Terror," Elizabeth Whitehill is driving west to join her fiance in a new convertible with her Chinook dog beside her. She lands in the thick of a ring of foreign agents when she takes pity on a rain-soaked hitchhiker on a lonely Nevada road. The pace is terrific, and the story robbed me of a good night's rest.

Frederic Brown has given us chillers like "Screaming Mimi." His latest is "Compliments of a Fiend." Your old friends Ed and Uncle Ambrose Hunter work for a Chicago detective agency. Uncle Am is usually dependable, but here turns up missing and it looks as though Ambrose Collector had got him.

Please don't forget our change in hours—Wednesday evenings the library will be closed from August 1 on. The hours will continue to be Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 12:30 to 6 and 7 to 8:30, and on Wednesday from 12:30 to 6 p.m. We hope this will inconvenience no one if you remember and plan your library trips accordingly.

Nevada has produced vast quantities of gold, silver, lead, copper, zinc, quicksilver and tungsten.
